- 1. Prior to 23 March 1954, the barracks installations at the scuttour pertactor of Sensburg (R 54/A 27) and on either side of the road to Arys were compiled by Polish infantry units of an estimated strength of between 600 and 1,200 soldiers, including a military band. Only light infantry verpore were observed. Reports of small caliber guns were heard from the post firing area about 500 meters west of Mertinsdorf (R 54/A 17), just north of the Sensburg-Sorquitten (R 54/A 06) road. It was runored among the Sonsburg population that armored units would soon be transferred to the post.
- 2. In the summer of 1953, the barracks installation on the south side of the road to Rastenburg (R 55/A 29) at the western edge of Loetzan (R 55/A 59) which was occupied by Polish troops, was allegedly being reconditioned. In late September 1953, the occupation of the installation included soldiers withred cap band. Local residents stated that the Arys troop training grounds, which was being utilized by Polish troops, was being caltarged. The villages of Wolfsheide (R 54/A 65) and Schlagakrug (R 54/A 75) had been villages of Schweykowen (R 54/A 65) and Seebruecken (Lipinskie) (R 54/A 75) wore to be dismantled in 1954.
- 3. Prior to 10 March 1954, a Polish border guard unit (WOP) of at least 60 men was stationed in Holzkathen (P 55/H 11). The soldiers were green service color and were employed in guard duty in the coastal area mean Holzkathen. The neighboring unitant the west was stationed in Rous (P 55/H 01). Persons found in the Holzkathen-Roue area were sent to a WOP headquarters in Ruegenwalde Theorem (P 55/M 68) via Stolpmundo (P 55/G 80).2
- 4. On 23 June 1954, a Polish sailor of the 1924-class, who had not yet served, was inducted for a 3-month exercise by the retruiting district headquarters in Gdynia (Q 55/Y 44).
